

Held-out performance before and after removing the training-data caps

Shaded band marks the run-to-run variation of an independent retraining, about 0.005. A gain lying inside it is not established by this comparison alone. The generator panel measures a different quantity and has no repeat-run estimate, so no band is drawn.